Introduction.

The following detailed narrative contains information about 8 families with the Allday surname, who were resident in and around Birmingham in the period 1800 to 1850.

The ‘prime’ is ‘Allday’ Family 1 as this contains the individuals with the Allday surname whose Y-DNA matches a person with the Audley surname. The other Families have only to date been developed up to try and help get Family 1 back to an earlier date.

In addition to the following research narrative for people named ‘Allday’ and living in the Birmingham area, we have published an established research narrative, which shows a Y-DNA link to the ‘Audley Family A’ as follows:

Four Brothers left Shotwick in Cheshire around 1800 and moved to Liverpool in Lancashire. These four Brothers are the founding members of Audley Families titled ‘AA’, ‘AB’, ‘AC’ & ‘AD’.

This Family, Family ‘A’ narrative contains the information about the family while they were living in Cheshire. It should be noted that while the family was living in both Shotwick & Neston, Cheshire, their surname was recorded as “Allday”.

Appendix ‘A’ within the narrative of Audley Family ‘A’ gives the reasoning behind the conclusion that the 4 Brothers recorded at Shotwick & Neston, with the surname “Allday” are the same individuals recorded living in Liverpool with the surname ‘Audley’.

Allday’s and Onions Company

Alldays & Onions was an English engineering business and an early automobile manufacturer based at Great Western Works and Matchless Works, Small Heath, Birmingham. It manufactured cars from 1898 to 1918. The cars were sold under the Alldays & Onions name. Alldays also built an early British built tractor, the Alldays General Purpose Tractor. After the First World War the cars were sold under the name Enfield Alldays. Car production seems to have ceased in the 1920’s but the manufacture of many other items continued. The company became part of the Mitchell Cotts Group

Engineering businesses: Onions (formed by John Onions in 1650) and William Allday & Co. (formed by William Allday in 1720) joined in 1889 under the ownership of Alldays & Onions Pneumatic Engineering Company Limited. They made engineering and blacksmithing equipment. Like many such companies at the time they turned to bicycle manufacture and sold a range under the Alldays name. They also started making motorcycles in 1903 under the Alldays-Matchless name; these had no connection with the London-based Matchless company, and in 1915 presumably following representations from them, the name was changed to Allon. Manufacture of these continued until 1927.

Alldays and Onions produced its first car in 1898. The Traveller, a quadricycle made in private and commercial forms, was steered by a wheel. It had an unsprung rear end; power generated by a 4hp De Dion single-cylinder motor. However, series production did not start until 1903/4 with the 7hp model. Larger commercial vehicles of up to 5 tons were also made in the years preceding the First World War and saw service during the conflict.

Alldays hit commercial success with the 1.6-litre, vertical-twin side-valve 10/12, which was made from 1905 to 1913. It was popular with commercial drivers and did well in period formula events and hill-climbs. A 16 hp 4-cylinder joined the line-up in 1906, and in 1908, the Enfield Autocar Co. was acquired. Shortly afterward, the range was rationalized, with most models being sold under both brand-names. The Alldays contribution to the equation was the well-established twin- and four-cylinders that put out 14 and 20hp, always shaft-driven. A 30/35hp six-cylinder was listed from 1911 to 1914, compressed-air starters being optional in 1911. In 1913, the 990cc V-twin Midget cyclecar was introduced, featuring air cooling and shaft drive, selling at £138.10s. (About £13,700 today). An 1100 cc 4-cylinder version with a bullnose radiator appeared in 1914, popular at the price of £175. (About £16,900 today). Pair-cast side-valve four-cylinders rated at 12/14, 16/20, and 25/30 hp filled out the immediate pre-war offerings.

Alldays & Onions had merged in 1908 with the short lived Enfield Autocar Company which had been formed to take over the car making interests of the Enfield Cycle Company. They produced cars called Enfield- Allday until 1925.

The Managing Director of the Alldays and Onions Company in 1911 was {DA100} William Allday, of Family 1. This information is based on the 1911 Census of England returns for his family. He only had daughters and there will be no living descendants his with the Allday surname.

The word Alldays in the company name is the plural of the surname Allday suggesting that more than one person was involved at a high level within the company. Whilst we have not found any definite evidence to support this it is highly likely that {DA101} Edmund Allday, the Brother of {DA100} William Allday also worked in the company as he is described as a Pneumatic Engineer in the 1901 Census of England and a Manufacturing Engineer in the 1911 Census of England.

Prior to joining with Onions to make the 'Alldays and Onion' company many of the members of the Allday family are described as Bellows Makers. Another common occupation amongst members of the Allday family are Butchers There are two tables later in the file under the heading 'Common Occupations', which lists which members of the Allday family held those occupations.

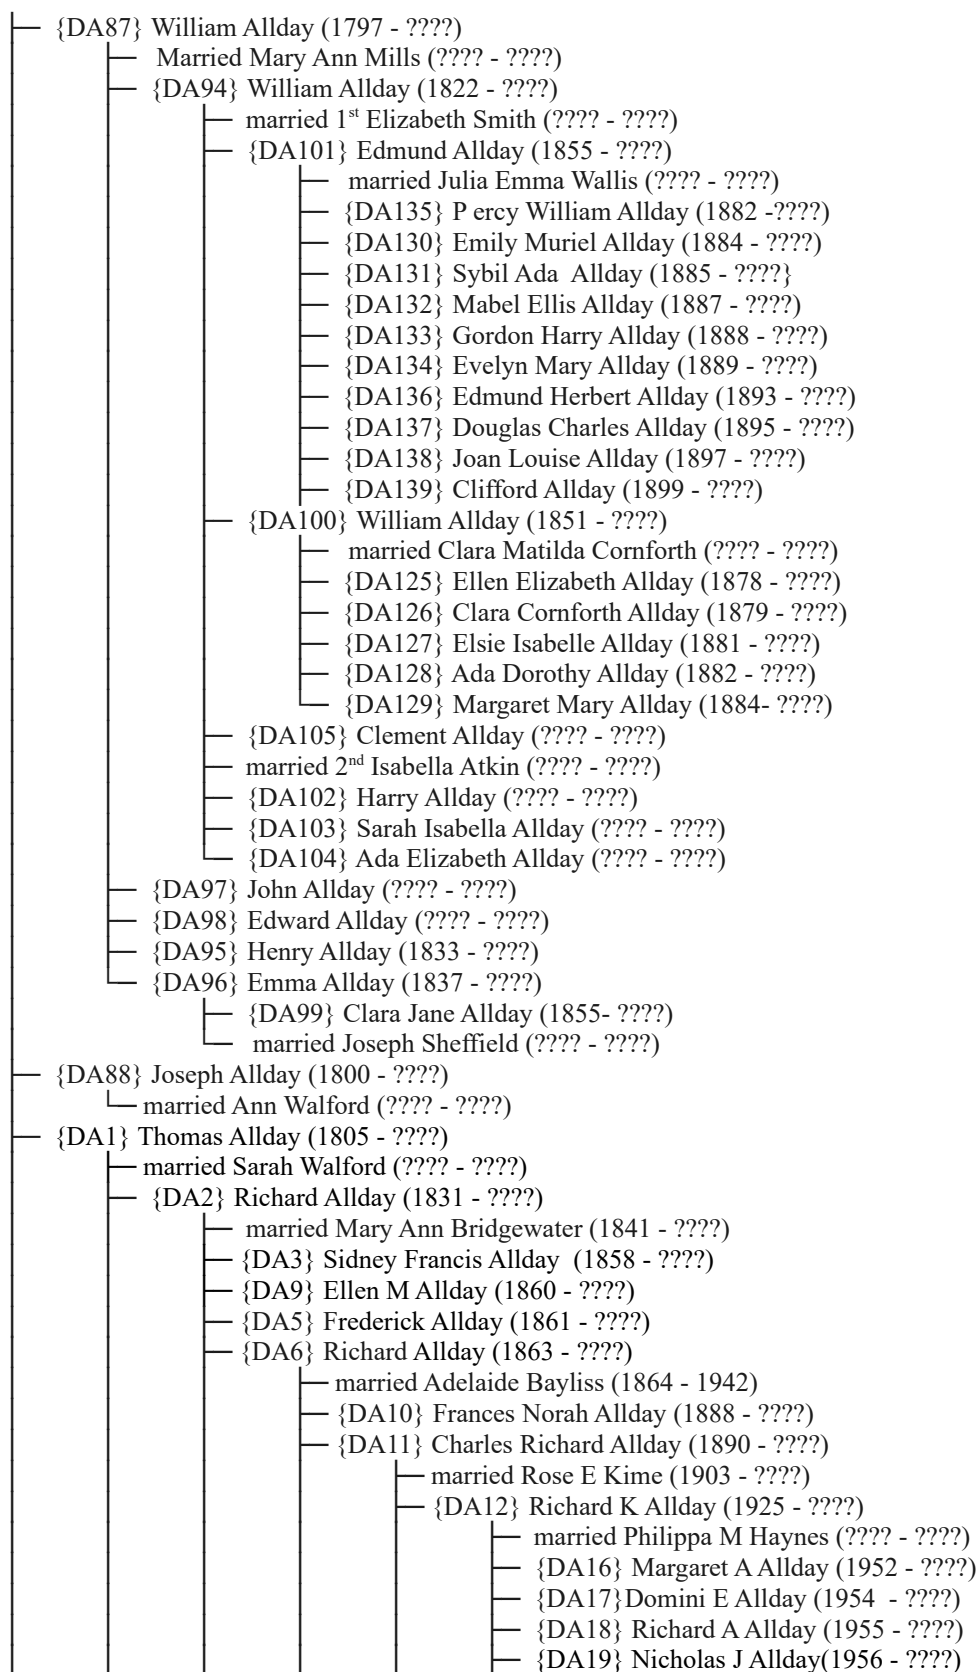

'Wikipedia' states that the William Allday & Co. was formed by William Allday in 1720. We have not managed to verify that fact; the earliest member of the family we have, so far been able to identify is {DA85} Peter Allday (circa 1777 to 1850) who married a Phebe Inghley in 1797. To date we have been unable find the Baptismal record for this Peter Allday

Detailed Narrative

The following detailed narrative contains information about 7 families with the Allday surname that in the period 1800 to 1850 were living in and around Birmingham, England. The 'prime' is Family 1 as this contains the individual with the Allday surname whose 'Y-DNA' matches a person with the Audley surname. We also believe this family is linked to the Allday & Onions Company that manufactured cars from 1898 to 1918. The other Families have been developed up to about 1851 to try and help get Family 1 back to an earlier date.

Common Occupations

There are a number of occupations within the Allday Families in and around Birmingham namely Butcher and Bellows Maker, which could show a link between families.

The following table lists the Allday individuals who were Butchers.

Tag Number	Name	Family	Years referred to as Butchers
{DA1}	Thomas Allday	1	1851
{DA2}	Richard Allday	1	1851, 1861, 1871, 1881
{DA6}	Richard Allday	1	1881, 1891, 1901, 1911
{DA29}	John Allday	2	1851, 1861
{DA64}	Edward Allday	5	1841
{DA24}	Edward Allday	5	1861
{DA75}	Thomas Digbeth Allday	6	1851

Tag Number	Name	Family	Years referred to as Butchers
{DA107}	Salter Allday	7	Parish Registers
(DA113}	Adam Allday	7	1841

The above information suggests that Families 1, 2, 5 & 6 could be related.

The following table looks at those members of the Allday Family who were Bellows Makers

Tag Number	Name	Family	Years referred to as Bellows Maker
{DA85}	Peter Allday	1	1841
{DA87}	William Allday	1	1841,1851,1861, 1871
{DA94}	William Allday	1	1851, 1861
{DA98}	Edward Allday	1	1851
{DA49}	Edward Allday	3	1841, 1851

The above table of 'Bellows Makers' would suggest that Families 1 and 3 could be related.

In addition it would also appear that {DA49} Edward Allday (Family 3} and {DA61} John Allday (Family 4) married two Sisters and were living next door to each other in 1851, which suggests that Families 1, 3 and 4 could be related.

(Comment::In the 1851 Census of England {DA61} John Allday and his family are recorded as living in the next dwelling to {DA49} Edward Allday. It should be noted that the Maiden name of both their Wives was Wright. This suggests that {DA61} & {DA49} were Brothers.)

(Comment: The information of his age and his date of Death would suggest that he was Born between 10th December 1809 and 9th December 1810. {DA141} was Born and Baptised before this date therefore this person cannot be {DA141}. There is also the Baptism on the 10th August 1809, of a John Allday, parents Thomas & Ann Allday at St Martin's, Birmingham, the date of Birth of this Baptism is given as 8th May 1808.
