

News About Town.

J. H. G. Durant starts on a European tour to-day for his health.

Henry Jude was raised to the master mason of Trumbull lodge, F. and A. M., last night.

The court of appeals of New York has dismissed the appeal in the case of the New Haven Web Co vs the Ferris Armstrong Manufacturing Co.

Friends of William Alden helped him celebrate his 55th birthday at his home, 74 Lyon street, last evening. He was presented with an easy chair.

Michael Shay, who was arrested in Berlin yesterday for burglary and theft, has served terms in the New Haven and Hartford county jails. This time he robbed a Berlin boarding house.

Judge Studley has rendered decisions in these cases: Stephen Kelley vs Edward T Casey, for plaintiff to recover $12.52 costs; Levi B. Stuart vs Simon Novitzky, for plaintiff to recover $12.

The Grays last evening decided to decorate the graves of deceased members Sunday, June 23. The usual custom of a parade will be done away with, and the members of the company will visit the cemeteries in carriages.

Last evening Martin Conlan was appointed sanitary inspector by the board of health. He takes the place made vacant by the resignation of Edward Coe. The other candidates were Capt. Thomas F. O'Brien and Frank G. Haines.

At a meeting of the First Presbyterian church society to be held Friday evening, the proposition to sell the church property will be discussed, as well as an offer made by the College street church to sell to the First Presbyterian its church edifice on College street.

Miss Audley, daughter of Charles Audley, while horseback riding Monday with a friend on Cedar street, felt her saddle turning under her. In attempting to jump from the horse her foot caught in the stirrup and she was dragged for some distance. She received a deep cut on the face and other injuries.