Important Sale of Valuable Oak and Ash Timber, at Biddulph.

By Mr. AUDLEY, at the house of Mr. Andrew Jones, Lion and Swan Inn, Congleton, in the county of Chester, on Tuesday the 13th day of November, 1838, precisely at three o'clock in the afternoon, subject to conditions which will be then and there produced:

THE following LOTS of Superior OAK and ASH TIMBER, growing in the parish of Biddulph, in the county of Stafford.

Lot 1. Thirty Oaks, numbered from 1 to 30 both inclusive. Two Ash, numbered 1 and 2.

Lot 2. Forty-three Oaks, numbered from 31 to 73 both inclusive. One Ash, numbered 3.

Lot 3. Twenty-nine Oaks, numbered from 74 to 102 both inclusive. Four Ash, numbered 4, 5, 6, and 7.

Lot 4. Forty-nine Oaks, numbered from 103 to 151 both inclusive.

Lot 5. Forty-nine Oaks, numbered from 152 to 200 both inclusive. Two Ash, numbered 8 and 9.

Lot 6. Thirty-four Oaks, numbered from 201 to 234 both inclusive. Eleven ditto, numbered from 244 to 254 both inclusive. Eight Ash, numbered from 10 to 17 both inclusive.

Lot 7. Thirty-five Oaks, numbered from 255 to 289 both inclusive. Three Ash, numbered 18, 19, and 20.

Lot 8. Thirty Oaks, numbered from 290 to 319 both inclusive. Two Ash, numbered 21 and 22.

Lot 9. Twenty-eight Oaks, numbered from 320 to 347 both inclusive. Fifteen Ash, numbered from 23 to 37 both inclusive.

The above timber is partly coppice and partly hedge-row, of very superior quality and growth, and of large dimensions. It will be found particularly worthy the attention of ship builders and the trade generally.

Biddulph is situate in the northern division of the county of Stafford, three miles from the town of Congleton, and five miles from the Staffordshire Potteries, and is within two miles of the Lawton and Macclesfield Canal.

Mr. George Birks, of Whitmore Cottage, in Biddulph, will appoint a person to show the timber; and further information may be obtained from Mr. George Harding, Land agent, Maerfield, near Newcastle-under-Lyme; or from Mr. John Leech, Wall Bridge Farm, near Leek.

Maerfield, October 20, 1838.
